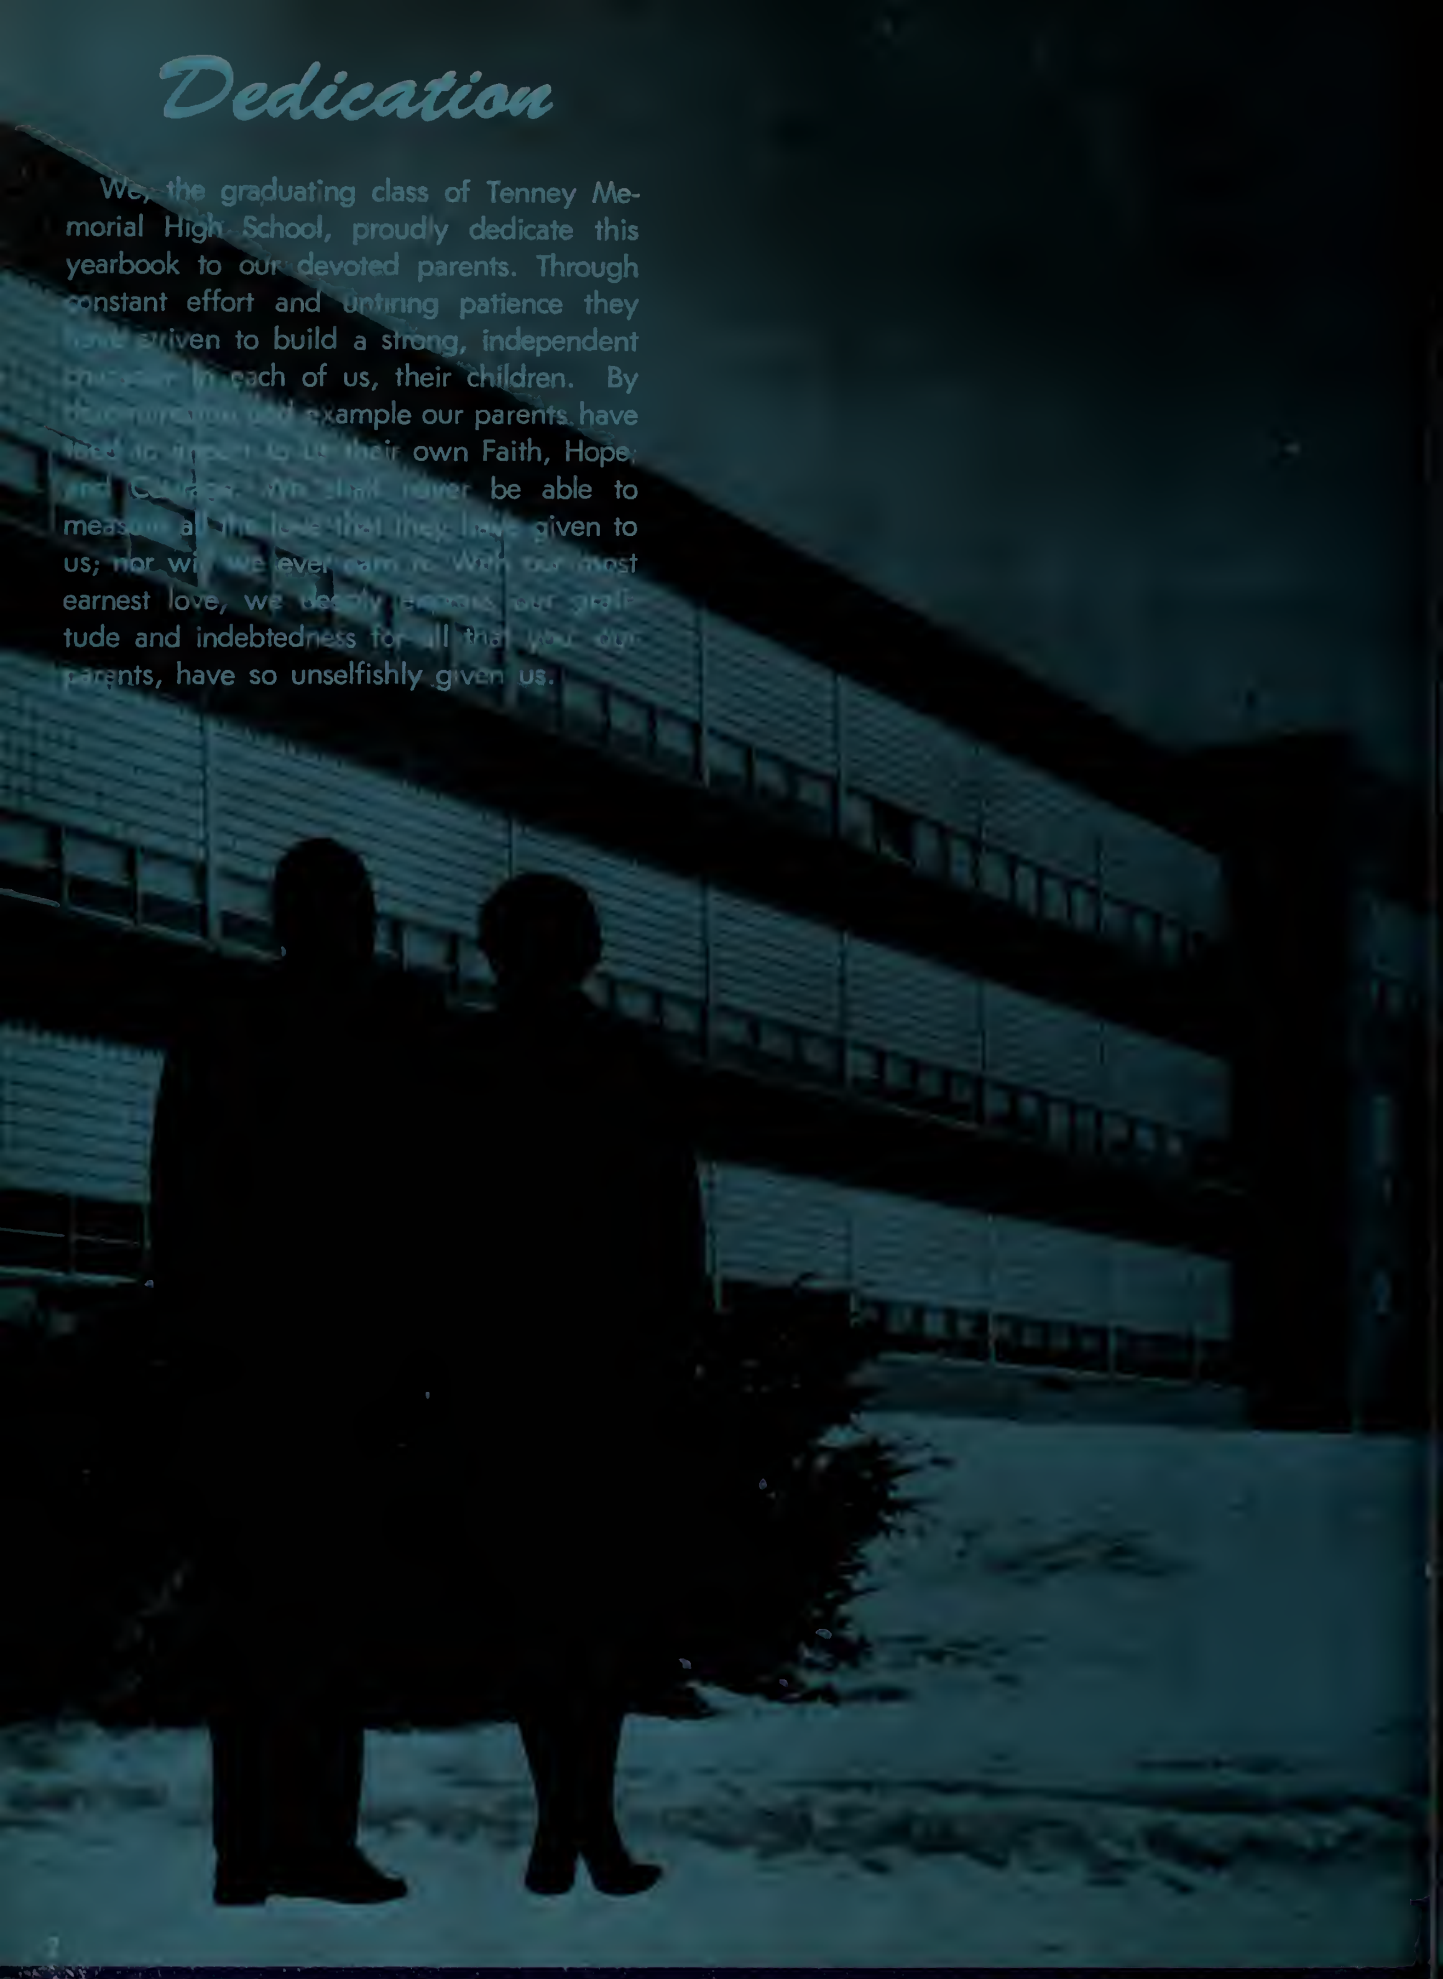
Dedication

We, the graduating class of Tenney Memorial High School, proudly dedicate this yearbook to our devoted parents. Through constant effort and untiring patience they have striven to build a strong, independent character in each of us, their children. By their unselfish and example our parents have tried to impart to us their own Faith, Hope, and Courage. We shall never be able to measure all the love that they have given to us; nor will we ever earn it. With our most earnest love, we deeply express our gratitude and indebtedness for all that you, our parents, have so unselfishly given us.



Foreword

We, the 1963 Torch Staff, hope that this yearbook will become one of the most cherished of Your high school memories. The Staff has attempted to present You with a vivid account of the many memorable events that have taken place here at Tenney High. We sincerely hope that this yearbook will help You re-live some of the many friendships, activities, and memories in which You have taken part.

Graduation is the end of a carefree, though somewhat sheltered life, and the beginning of a more serious and challenging one, filled with new plans, dreams, and aspirations. As we, the Class of 1963, graduate, we are filled with mixed emotions—joy for the many friends and memories we will never forget, and regret for all we have left behind. We can never realize nor measure all the education we have acquired here at Tenney Memorial High School through instruction, discipline, associations, and our own experiences. May God guide us in the many decisions we will have to make, and may He grant us humility and perseverance to accept and to fulfill our new roles in life.

A BAG OF TOOLS

Isn't it strange that princes and kings
And clowns that caper in sawdust rings,
And common people like you and me,
Are builders for eternity?

To each is given a bag of tools,
A shapeless mass, and a book of rules;
And each must make, ere life has flown,
A stumbling block or a stepping stone.

TENNEY HIGH SCHOOL SONG

The call to advanced and broader fields
Is ringing loud and clear
With hope and expectation high
We answer without fear.

The work we've done, the truths we've learned
Will bring success we know—
Undaunted, firm we'll ever be
As toward our goal we go.

Farewell to thee, dear Tenney High
We'll always remember thee,
For all we've gained within your walls
We'll always cherish thee.

SALUTATORIAN
Corrine Kondry

". . . It is this one word—moderation—that I leave with you, the class of 1963. May .this one word guide you through all the trials of the future long after this day and these speeches have been forgotten. May you, collectively and individually, search for it and find it; may you grasp on to it and value it; and may you never lose sight of that perfect balance of everything in life.

"Now, as the setting sun brings to a close another day, I bring to a close this chapter of our lives by bidding to each of you a fond farewell."

Class History

By Joyce Tilley and Ronald Dyer

FRESHMAN

RONNIE: Watch out for these stairs. They are certainly old and creaky! I don't think anybody's been up in this attic . . . well, at least since 1963. I wonder what's up here.

JOYCE: Well, there's plenty of dust. There's almost as much up here as there used to be in the bottom of our lockers at the end of the year.

RONNIE: Let me help you open that old trunk.

JOYCE: Ronnie, please. I'd rather do it myself!

RONNIE: All right! All right! Hey, what's that book?

JOYCE: It's our high school scrap book. Let's see just how much disorder and mischief our class caused during our four years at Tenney.

RONNIE: Yes, those were the good old years when the teachers appeared to be a bit frustrated and, we suspect, began slipping tranquilizers into their morning coffee to help them cope with us. The custodians, trying to keep our school neat, were sweeping through the corridors in go-carts.

JOYCE: Say! Here's a picture of the Freshman Class officers. You were the president, Ronnie; Carol Moynihan was vice president; Susan Eaton, secretary; and Karen Allard, treasurer.

RONNIE: Here are our Student Council members, too, under the capable direction of Mr. Alfred Law. They are Martha McKenzie, Sheila Mistal, and Kenny Campbell.

JOYCE: Remember our first big social event, the Freshman Reception? The seniors treated us to a wonderful time.

RONNIE: Yes, except for when they were a little careless with those king-sized safety pins.

JOYCE: The night ended with the crowning of Arlyne Quiambao and King Alan Strondak.

RONNIE: The next thing that I recall was the 54th Military Ball. As freshmen, we thought that this was one of the most important events of the year.

JOYCE: Yes, I shall never forget the many girls waiting anxiously to be asked by the cadets to our first formal, the Military Ball.

RONNIE: The Talent Show was the next important social event in our freshman year. I remember Pat Yurkavich as a flame dancer and Paula Merrow as an acrobat.

JOYCE: Then came the first time that Tenney High School appeared on Boston Ballroom. We were all T.V. stars for a day.

RONNIE: Cadet Field Day was also an eventful occasion. Art Wyman placed first among freshman cadets, Jeff Bardsley was second, and Joel Blotner third.

JOYCE: There was so much excitement at Tenney when Judi Kolba was the only freshman who made cheerleading, and when Joyce Micavich, Wendy Sleeper, and Elaine English made the majorette squad. Naturally, we were delighted with the choice.

RONNIE: That just about concludes all the freshman highlights.

SOPHOMORE

JOYCE: The summer passed before we knew it, though, and once again we converged in squadrons, battalions, and regiments on the halls of Tenney High School. Some of us were most unwilling . . . but we didn't want to grow up to be mules.

RONNIE: Do you recall having a new feeling as a sophomore?

JOYCE: Certainly! Since we were older and we were not freshmen anymore, there was more of a feeling of belonging, and we indeed were necessary.

RONNIE: Our sophomore year got off to a fine start with Al Strondak as president, Carol Moynihan as vice president (you like that combination), Ginny Hodge as secretary, and Ginny Incollingo as treasurer.

JOYCE: This was the year that the "Girls" took over as our representatives on the Student Council. The new members were Sheila Mistal, Sanda Bagley, and Martha McKenzie.

RONNIE: The D.A.R. awards were later presented to two of our outstanding sophomores, Agnes Armitage and Alan Strondak.

JOYCE: The Cheering and Majorette tryouts came again, along with the usual sprained ligaments and backs. This time, congratulations went to Judi Kolba, Paula Merrow, and Ginny Hodge for making the Cheering Squad. The new Majorettes were Ginny Eastman, Elaine English, Diane Huebner, Ann LaFrance, Dianne Mansur, Gloria Sigmon, and Wendy Sleeper. How happy they were!

RONNIE: That just about brings to an end our sophomore antics. Now, stay tuned for the second half of our exciting program, "Antics at Tenney," brought to you by the Beaumont and Lister Lecturing Service, sponsors of those marvelous, new, "Instant Hangout on the Corner" kits.

JUNIOR

JOYCE: Turn the page. Let's see what happened to our up-and-coming class in the junior year.

RONNIE: First of all, our class was led on to great heights by our progressive class officers. Chief was Al Strondak, chief of vice was Corinne Kondry, scribe was Wendy Sleeper, and wampum keeper was Arlyne Quiambao.

JOYCE: Representing our class on the Student Council were our staunch and reliable classmates: Franny Rickley, Joyce Rogers, Joy Tilley, and Geoffrey Bardsley.

RONNIE: This old scrap book certainly brings back many fond memories.

JOYCE: I recall the day the Yearbook staff was announced and Arthur Nicholson was named Editor.

RONNIE: Yes, the spring of our junior year surely was an eventful one. There were quite a number of honors that were given to our classmates at that time.

JOYCE: There certainly were: Corinne Kondry and Ron Dyer were presented with the D.A.R. awards. Geoffrey Taylor received the Andover Harvard Club book award, and Bill Barry and Joyce Micavich were presented with the Civil War Centennial Medal for proficiency in American History.

RONNIE: I remember that Ken White was awarded the Patnaude Medal.

JOYCE: Agnes Armitage was chosen to attend Girls' State at Bridgewater State College, while Geoffrey Taylor and Ron Dyer went to the University of Massachusetts to attend Boys' State.

RONNIE: Cadet Field Day had a special meaning for all the juniors. This would be the last time that they could enter the drill competition. Being congratulated are Ken White for finishing first, Art Wyman for second, and Jeff Bardsley for third.

JOYCE: Hey, look! There is a picture of a room filled with smoke!

RONNIE: Oh, no! The chemistry classes are at it again!

JOYCE: Of course not. That's the assembly when nineteen studious members of our class were inducted into the National Honor Society in a solemn candlelight ceremony. The inductees were Agnes Armitage, Catherine Armistead, Ronald Dyer, Virginia Eastman, Susan Eaton, Judith Kolba, Corinne Kondry, Ann LaFrance, President George Lamontagne, Joyce Micavich, Monica McRobbie, Arthur Nicholson, Arlyne Quiambao, Noreen Samia, Nancy Smith, Thomas Solomon, Geoffrey Taylor, Joyce Tilley, and Mary Lou Walther. Lucy DiResta later joined the Society in her senior year.

RONNIE: That just about wraps up all of our junior activities. Now, we could enjoy our long-awaited summer vacation.

SENIOR

JOYCE: Our big year had finally come. We were now seniors and looked forward with great anticipation to a glorious year as the graduating class. It certainly proved a happy one for Pat Yurkavich and Ron Dyer, who were chosen Queen and King, respectively, of the class of '63.

RONNIE: Our senior year snapped into motion almost immediately with the beginning of the football season. Chosen to lead our Rangers on to conquering heights were co-captains Al Strondak and Steve Cloutier.

JOYCE: Look! Here's a photograph of our football Queen, the vivacious and charming Karen Allard. The players, indeed, have very fine taste.

RONNIE: And there is the girls' field hockey team, wielding their oversized boomerangs, in a charge across the field with Captain Terry Angus in the lead.

JOYCE: Here are our Senior Class officers—President, Corinne Kondry; vice president, Ronnie Dyer; secretary, Wendy Sleeper; and treasurer, Arlyne Quiambao. The seniors never would have made it through the confusion and mass hysteria of the graduating year, however, without the invaluable help of our class advisor, that man about the school, mouse about the house, Mr. Russell.

RONNIE: Here is a picture of the Student Council led by president Jeff Bardsley. Our other members were Joyce Rogers, Jim Brett, Sharon Desrochers, and Joyce Tilley.

JOYCE: A happy night for all occurred with the arrival of the annual Cadet Hop. That night held a special joy for Cadet Corps Queen Pat Yurkavich and her attendants, Wendy Sleeper and Terry Cook.

RONNIE: It meant a lot to the senior officers, too. Look! Here's a picture of Colonel Art Wyman and Lt. Col. Ken White being congratulated.

JOYCE: Didn't our majorettes and cheerleaders look radiant in their new uniforms that year. Giving moral support to our boys with jubilant and energetic emissions of shouts and cheers were head cheerleader Judi Kolba, Ginny Hodge, and Paula Merrow.

RONNIE: Stepping smartly in front of the band was Captain of the Majorettes Ginny Eastman, followed by Wendy Sleeper, Ann LaFrance, Joyce Micavich, Noreen Samia, Diane Mansur, Diane Huebner, Alice Laffin, and Gloria Sigmon.

JOYCE: Do you remember our school newspaper? Guided by the bubbling pens of co-editors Camille Bonanno and Joyce Micavich, our familiar Blue and White publication, gaining wide and prominent acclaim, commenced a complete, comprehensive, and uncensored coverage of the worldly happenings at our high school.

RONNIE: The result of this report—the paper's name was changed to The National Enquirer.

JOYCE: This was the year, too, that the Tenney High School Dance Band made its debut under the direction of none other than "Mac."

RONNIE: Look! There are Captain Dave Howshan and our basketball team. This was the year that the team competed as a new member of the Lowell Suburban League, and finished . . .

JOYCE: We don't know where!

RONNIE: The girls' basketball team also began playing league games. Here is a snapshot of the co-captains Rita Donovan and you, Joyce.

JOYCE: And here is another of the Christmas program.

RONNIE: This was the event where we were introduced to an extremely talented group of senior boys, singing "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and other songs their mothers had taught them.

JOYCE: Do you remember the 57th annual Military Ball? The beautiful red, white, and blue decorations really made a perfect setting for the festivities of our last cadet ball. I remember, too, that our Talent Show was a tremendous success in our senior year. What a marvelous job George Laffin did as the master of ceremonies, and how spectacular the many acts were!

RONNIE: Two of our talented classmates received individual awards in their senior year. One, Joyce Tilley, was given the D.A.R. award; and the other, Jim Brett, was chosen to represent Tenney High School during Student Government Day.

JOYCE: I remember that this was the year that the Cadet Corps was honored by being invited to participate in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in South Boston.

RONNIE: Yes, and the officers, accompanied by Mr. Morissette, also enjoyed a week-end trip to the Military Academy at West Point. I doubt if the boys will ever forget what was located (by coincidence, of course) next to the motel.

JOYCE: Just look at all the commotion on the athletic field! Our baseball team with Captain Al Strondak is practicing there. The team had a tremendous season, finishing in second place in the Lowell Suburban League and advancing to the Tech Tourney held during June.

RONNIE: Also on the field is the girls' softball team. At the helm were co-captains Dorothy Cooper and Terry Angus.

JOYCE: Look how crowded the auditorium is. It must be our senior class play, Ask Any Girl.

RONNIE: Or, more colloquially, The Call of the Wild.

JOYCE: Judi Kolba as Meg Wheeler and George Laffin as Miles Doughton headed a fine cast. Never could the play have been presented, however, without the expert supervision of Mrs. Hovanasian.

RONNIE: Talking about asking girls reminds me of our Senior Prom, "Tropical Paradise."

JOYCE: That's right! And, in preparing for this colorful extravaganza, 150 conniving debutantes, equipped with the most modern trapping supplies, dispersed among their less enthusiastic classmates, the boys, and emerged with their duped male escorts and enjoyed, at the boys' expense, a fabulous evening.

RONNIE: I will never forget "the" band that played for us that evening. You probably all remember their hit album that really rocked the charts—The Guitar Rockers, chanting the Watusi, The Zombie Jamboree, and other Irish Favorites.

JOYCE: Hey! Look! Our entire senior class is assembled in the auditorium for the announcement of the class honors. Agnes Armitage was valedictorian, Corinne Kondry was salutatorian, Joyce Micavich was honor essayist, and George Lamontagne was the class day orator. That is the last page of our scrap book, Ronnie. It seems to be blurred. I wonder what it says.

RONNIE: I know what it is. It's our class motto: "The past forever gone, the future still our own."

Class Prophecy

By Wendy Sleeper and Mary Lou Walther

TIME: 1973

PLACE: Space Station "63"

WENDY: Why, Mary Lou Walther, when I called Earthside Employment Agency for a secretary, I never dreamed you'd be sent. We haven't seen each other since our high school graduation ten years ago. You've always had a passion for travel, but I never thought you'd get this far out!

MARY LOU: Today has certainly been filled with marvelous surprises for me! My astronaut to the station was Kenneth Ammon, assisted by Chet Wilczynski, David Leach, Bill Brackett, and Bob Nicholson. Those five have been together since they joined the Air Force. Our spaceline hostesses were Sylvia Hadfield and Mary Jane Mikolis. I can't believe that you're actually a psychologist, Wendy!

WENDY: This is a rather remote place, halfway between the earth and the moon. Psychologicol help was urgently needed; therefore, I came to the rescue. Only yesterday astronauts senior grade Raymond Nutton and Philip Beaulieu were seeking my aid. They both have a crush on the same little nurse, Sandy Bagley.

MARY LOU: Speaking of nurses, I visited Saturn Floating Hospital yesterday, and I found Carol Moynihan, Paula Merrow, Barbara Pietraszek, Thora Houghton, Diane Huebner, Sheila Mistal, and Jean Benoit moaning over the release of Guy Grasso, who was playing doctor without o license. He's extremely proficient in everything!

WENDY: Oh, yes, I remember. He never could decide on a vocation. There goes George Lomontagne; he's o weather forecaster for Mars, Venus, Jupiter, and Earth. Mars is quite beautiful. I was there last summer. Steven Cloutier and Richard Hanson are the planet's chief civil engineers—forever building new roads. William Loeschner, a forest ranger, does his best to guard Mother Nature's beauty, while Steve and Dick cut down his beloved trees.

MARY LOU: At 1S00 hours we must be sure to watch the Gorrison LePage-Robert Cody report on channel T.H.S., featuring the Teachers' Bowl. Participoting will be Nancy Blood, who teaches elementary education; Linda Gammons, music; Alfred Brothers, German; Agnes Armitage, calculus, anolytic geometry, ond advanced algebra; and Arthur Nicholson, math.

WENDY: Have you been in Berlin recently?

MARY LOU: No, what's new?

WENDY: Well, you know the wall has been down for over seven years now; and Ricky Faro, Raymond Genest, Peter Haidaichuck, and Lloyd Higgins are busy transforming the eastern sector into o beautiful metropolis. Ernie Hatem, Dick Sideri, and Don Bistany are installing all the atomic electro dynomic circuits, while Jimmy Kolifrath, Joseph Bella, Al Lambert, Jim Morrissey, and Steve Davis are draftsmen for the three hundred floor cooperative apartment buildings.

MARY LOU: How about Walter Kudzia, James Keogh, John Najarian, Geoffrey Taylor, and Lorry Gentile? They all operate very lucrative businesses in Europe, but they commute daily from the states because their wives refuse to leave Long Island. Three other members of our class still an earth are Carol Waite, Linda Waring, and Kathleen Molbon, who are serving in the Americon embassy in Russia.

WENDY: I guess quite a few of our old crowd are still on earth. A large number of fellows stayed in Hawaii after our fifth reunion. Danial Bogannam is in the physical education department and coaches the track team at the University of Hawaii. Dana Amiss, John Jovell, and Richard Kachanian bought the Hawaiian Village and divide their time between beach-combing and hotel management. Claire Maranto and John Szelest visit them whenever the fleet is in. Adele Socci teaches surfing at Waikiki. What a life!

MARY LOU: Some other earthbound classmates are Robert Cote, said to be the swiftest barber in New York City. "Shave and a haircut in two minutes" is his motto. Tony Rass and Joe Marcello, also in New York, do all the illustrations for Lewis Popielarske's space travel bureau. Fran Shibel is their receptionist. It's a real swingin' team!

WENDY: William Coughlan finally finished college with about a dozen degrees. Now he is starting a prep school for teen-age Martians, of which Robert Mesiti is headmaster. John Lahoud is going along an the venture as an I.B.M. instructar, and Dean Davis will teach space engineering. Judy Stuart will teach united earth languages, Beverly Craig will be intra-planetary guidance director, and Virginia Becker, secretarial instructor for antennaed Martians. Ann LaFrance instructs the Martianettes in baton twirling, and Ginny Hadge instructs them in cheerleading. Ernest Campolini teaches getting along with teachers. Betty Lau Houstan demonstrates haw ta win fraternity pins. Beverly Akam, Gita Hajjar, Francine Guillette, Margaret Hikel, and Elaine Levesque are all doing an excellent job with the carrespondence between the Earthites and the Martians.

MARY LOU: I'm glad we finally made it ta the moan in '6S; so many families have moved there fram the earth. The farmer Monica McRobbie, Glaria Sigman, and Lynda Piccarillo have migrated there with their cherished families—six bundles of jay in each. Martha McKenzie and Arlyne Quiambaa, sacial workers, help ta make sure the Moon Campany charter members keep busy and have few problems.

WENDY: I read the Lunor Ray this morning and was pleased to find that Phil Silva and Ed Tompkins have tied for first place in the Universal Pro Golf championship at Crater Country Club. Oh, by the way, Virginia Incollingo has finally traded her T-Bird for a Super-Electra. She is now circling the globe. I saw her on my Telstar S0 last month in the space drag race. Venus is extraordinarily bright this afternoon. The gals must really be living it up!

MARY LOU: What girls?

WENDY: Elaine Kolil has recently opened the Goddess of Love Beauty Salon. Her ossociates are Beverly Hayes, Elaine Nicolosi, Diane Duhamel, Morcella Duffen, Sondra Liccardello, and Patricia Rogalski. Joseph Bonocorsi, solar-system renowned beauty specialist, occosionally lectures them on loveliness.

MARY LOU: Station 63 is simply out of this universe! Isn't the architecture the masterpiece of William Borry, Geoffrey Bardsley, and Robert Waldie?

WENDY: Yes, it is. Rick Heinz is a great success. He's chief mechanical engineer for the Interplanetorial Tronsportotion Company, which has heodquarters in Eost Jupiter. He also teoches Europeon history and culture at night school.

MARY LOU: Isn't it marvelous that United States Army Generals Arthur Wyman and Kenneth White, and Premier Zu of Russia are doing such fabulous work with their Earthside Peace Corps program, of which Robert Worthington is general chairman?

WENDY: Oh, my, yes! How about our senior class president, Corrine Kondry, now a celebrated nuclear engineer? I believe she has a top secret plon for an astro-superio-flying saucer which may soon hit Pluto. As Corrine gets a new brainstorm, her secretary, Cathi Armistead, quickly jots it down.

MARY LOU: Have you seen Joe LaGrasse lately?

WENDY: No, I haven't seen him since our class reunion in Hawaii five yeors ago.

MARY LOU: His architectural firm is designing the United Universal building in the tiny planet Minute. The James Irving Construcfion Company is building the structure. Right now Richard Kody is doing the ground work with his heavy equipment.

WENDY: Incidentally, Mary Lou, have you heard how that planet was discovered? Well, Chanel St. Jean was keeping tabs on his wife, the former Sharon Derochers, who was visiting friends on Venus, through his electrode tabometer when tiny Minute came to the screen. Leave it to Chanel to find the first new planet in a decade!

MARY LOU: On the opposite side of Minute is built the medical clinic of Alan Cirella, Robert Asadoor, and Joel Blotner. The clinic's X-ray technicians are Joyce Micavich, Carol Parenti, Marilyn Parisi, and Nadine Ventura. Carol ond Nadine hold Mr. Russell's honds and feet while Joyce and Marilyn seorch his brain for flaws. Joyce Rodgers, Cynthia Plonowski, Noncy Smith, Amy Walsh, Sandra Sheehan, ond Barbara Wood are just a few of the clinic's noted nurses. Rito Donovan and Peggy Devine are seriously thinking of storting another "Nurses" series over channel T.H.S. Sheila Shisko and Pamela Bauchmon are the clinic's social workers; Pat Lawton and Julia Saab, the medical secretaries; and Rosemary Sapuppo, dental ossistant and Ken Basey chaser.

WENDY: I was scanning earth with my Telstar S0 at B00 hours this morning and happened to catch sight of the new S00 acre Tenney Memorial Academy. I guess the space-rod business has been rather successful for John Sweet; nearly every pupil hos one. Policeman Emil Jacabucci was directing traffic along with state trooper Jack Kirkman. One teacher, Beverly Shaio, was scolding a pupil for receiving "U" in conduct. Charles Vickers was reprimanding his quiet students, and Terri Cook wos teaching everyone how to be kind to others. Another Teacher, Marie Dawson, was directing the senior play. Susan Eaton is English deportment head; Alan Strondak, math; Polly Griffin, art. Dave Howshan was teaching his physical education boys how to swim in the school's 200 foot pool, while Judy Kolba and Angela Bucco's physical education girls bombarded them. Janice Zelles is the school's dean of girls. John Borrun, the dean of boys, attends detention daily to babysit for those now holding his former position. Of course, Ken Campbell is principal.

MARY LOU: My, do you think it would be possible for us to attend the sixth universal fair to be held on Uronus? Paul Galarneau's elaborate flower exhibition will be there. I'm also interested in the new never get old, never get gray drugs of Lucy DiResta and Robert Barnat's new mathematical theory.

WENDY: Tom Solomon, Bill Kerry, and Anthony Laiancono have made an electro fire work amplifier which sends gorgeous rays into the view of every planet. This will be on display at the fair.

MARY LOU: Dierdra Deed is now in her twenty-second arbit around the galaxy. She took Tom Fay along for campany, just to keep it a family affair.

WENDY: Karen Allard has been aperating her ski lodge in the Alps for six years now. She tried the mauntains of every planet and faund none of them to campare with the Alps. In nearby Italy Kenneth Law owns a "swingin' pad" and writes stimulating poetry for Esquire, like "Dig me, dig me, da!!"

MARY LOU: During on avalonche last year, a tunnel to the subterranial sea was accidentolly discovered. Captain Theresa Angus and Admirals William Bateman, Paul Torrisi, John Atkinson, and Paul Dorman have been assigned research duty there.

WENDY: Say, Barbara Farelli has an interesting position. She operates an earth connecting switchboard in her own home on Saturn. She refuses to leave the twins Ricky and Nicky with a babysitter. Occasionally, she does visit Dotty Cooper's advanced perceptive school an Venus. The twins enjoy playing with little Jackie. Babs propels her Super Electra so fast thot she usually has Louis Debenedetto on her tail with o speeding summons. Lucky Mr. Burke can't see her now! Oh, well, she can get James St. Clair to represent her in court.

MARY LOU: Speaking of Electras!! It didn't take Carmine Martino, Walter Yankawsky, and John McClintock long to get into the space ship sales and repair business. With Joanne Rapazzo as their business manager and Joyce Richardson as soles representative, they should really go far!

WENDY: Noreen Samia visited me the other day. She is a colleague of mine, only she is in the field of psychiatry. George Sandner and Michael Polizotti are drawing up plans for her new clinic on Minute. I believe Clark Stewart will be her superintendent; Sue Ellen Snow and Carolyn Simili, her associates. Lucille Stromei is financing the project (her husband is a billionaire), and Ken Steinert, Joyce Tilley, Aram Sarkisian, and Ken Poirier are installing all their latest electronic therapy machines.

MARY LOU: I hear Robert Murphy, Earl Shubert, and John McGibbon will soon be blasting off from earth to hold evangelistic sessions and sunrise services on all inhabited planets. Those three are really dedicated preachers!

WENDY: Would you like to go shopping with me tonight at Elaine Bucci's specialty shop in the metropolis of Methuen? That's where I buy all my clothes. She features the famous cover girl Jill D'Agata. While there, we could visit Anthony Alianello's IBM school. He, William Athayde, Karen Gorski, and John Lucinskas plan to demonstrate their rags to riches IBM machine. It is so fantastically accurate that Tom Turmel and Ed Takowicz, their guinea pigs, are now multi-millionaires.

MARY LOU: Irene Koscielniak, Diane Middlemiss, and Tony Fusco take care of sorting out peoples' bills when they pile up. Of course, taxes have been abolished since all the planets have enough natural resources to sustain them for the next thousand years. Joanne Venturo and Ruth Nault make directional signals for crossroads in space. One cute sign read, "Drive carefully or turn in your nose cone!"

WENDY: Oh, that one was designed by Joe Barberio. Who else would think of something like that. He's been trying very hard to get Elaine English to go into partnership with him in commercial art, but she's so shy and demure, she just stays at home in Methuen knitting space suits.

MARY LOU: Did you know that Ronnie Dyer has built the first super rocket to be shot through the earth? It cuts the journey from New England to China from 10 minutes to 3½ minutes. Monny Sousa and Elloyne Elias have been doing medical research in China. With the aid of the quick to spot note-taking minds of Elaine Balukonis, Virginia Morgan, Allice Laffin, and Jane Blight, they have found cures for over 98% of the galaxy's most dreaded diseases.

WENDY: The blue and white house of the co-presidents of the universe, James Brett and George Laffin, is a suspended A-shaped structure overlooking the twin planets. Betsy Chase is Secretary of State. Karin Danohy, Polly Derochers, Fran Rickley, Nancy Balfour, Karen Keleher, Mary Fiore, Veronica Connell, Ann Loon (she's Miss Universe) and Barbara Kentol are senatorial secretaries.

MARY LOU: Geraldine Bassett and Velva Erban are living in Boston with their husbands and children. Boston has so much culture they just couldn't bear to leave it or Paul Anka. Also, Bonnie Mozzucco has her chief student leaders office in Boston.

WENDY: On your way here, you must have passed Jim Zonfagno's "Nooh's Ark the Second." Aiding him in his animal venture are Martha Boren and Sharyn Meehan, who write to various planets seeking new animals and birds, and Camille Bononno, who writes the Animal Weekly, circulating in over one million zoos around the solar system.

MARY LOU: Ginny Eastman is president of the largest business school in the galaxy. Some of the instructors at the school are: Pat Yurkavich, poise and good grooming! Joyce Hagerty, appropriate hairdos; Diana Johnson, typing; Lucille Soucy, doodling artistically; Diane Mansur, shorthand; and Virginia Graham, coffee making—the way the boss likes it.

WENDY: Well, any second now I should get a ray from Paula Franco, who is Rita Martelle's private eye. She always locates me when I'm late for an appointment! Rita seems to be having trouble with some psycho non-conformists at her new college on Jupiter. It seems a Professeur Gagne told them he'd take away their gravitational suits if they didn't do their French. Now they all have a strange sensation of falling off the planet. I better fly quickly, before it's too late!!

MARY LOU: Wait! I'm coming too. This should prove to be hilarious!

Class Will

By Cathi Armistead and Arthur Nicholson

Be it remembered that we, the Class of 1963 of Tenney Memorial High School, Methuen, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, but knowing the uncertainty of this life and being most fully aware that we are leaving these classic halls forever, do hereby make public and decree this to be our last will and testament.

We, the senior girls, do hereby leave to the "wonderful" junior girls all the senior boys, or what will be left of them.

We, Beverly Akam and Agnes Armitage, do hereby leave to Mr. Goebel the task of finding two new conspirators to separate.

I, Alan Strondak, do hereby leave to some fortunate underclassman my place behind the ice cream stand.

We, Lynda Picarello and Lucille Stromei, do hereby leave to Mary Lou Norton our anxiety to graduate.

We, Kenneth Ammon and James Brett, being of sneaky mind and sound body, do hereby leave to Jo-Anne Fichera one slightly used tape recorder.

I, Noreen Samia, do hereby leave the basketball scoring book to Robin Medauer.

We, Carol Moynihan and Sheila Mistal, do hereby leave to Mr. Russell two unused chemistry books in hopes that someday they will be used.

We, Karen Keleher and Cynthia Planowski, do hereby leave to our sisters three more wonderful years of high school.

We, Sandra Bagley and Nancy Blood, do hereby leave our locker No. 375 to Susan Blood in hopes that when she becomes a senior she will keep it as pretty as we have.

We, home room 216, do hereby leave to Mrs. Hershfield the supreme silence that will hover over her home room long after we have left.

We, the 1963 Yearbook Staff, do hereby leave to Mr. W. Earl Lister the best yearbook that ever was or will be written in this school.

I, Danny Bogannam, do hereby leave the worn out pen I used to write Mr. McDermott's 500 words and their meanings from the dictionary in fifth period study hall.

We, the senior boys of "Splui Prep": Rick, Ron, Art, Ken, Jim, Steve, Jug, Bamma, Bubba, Twanka, Alley, and Muzzy, do hereby leave to Jack Allen and his chosen followers the keys to Camp Heron in the interest that he will use this wonderful hideaway to the best of his ability; we also wish he would try to get the logs out of the lake and see that they float, because "For crying out loud, if it's anything we can't stand, it's logs that don't float."

I, Pat Lawton, do hereby leave to some poor junior my seat in senior math.

I, Joseph Barberio, do hereby leave to Jack Allen the Champion Splui Cup which I won fairly and squarely off Jim Brett, because the latter cheated by taking a head start.

We, the class members of Room 221, do hereby leave to the incoming class of Room 221, Mr. Jennings and his fascinating dimples along with his college crew cut, hoping that they appreciate Mr. Jennings and his great habits.

I, Tom Turmel, do hereby leave my track shoes and a place in the Mile to Art Potvin in hopes that he will have better luck than I did.

We, Polly Griffin, Sheila Mistal, Amy Walsh, Sondra Bagley, Dede Deed, Nancy Blood, Karen Allard, Elaine English, and Ann Marie Loon, do hereby leave to next year's senior girls our sparkling personalities, our sisterly love, 26 jars of pickled cherries from the house of Betty Crocker, our attractive smiles, 6 green horse flies from Hampton Town Farm, our tremendous sense of humor, 3 cases of imported Red Algae from the Lawrence reservoir, our vivacious charm, one lobster trap complete with seaweed, and last, but not least, our pet goose, General Horatio T. Cornball, and may he always keep you jumpin'!

I, Carol Simili, do hereby leave to Miss Coulson all the nylons that I ruined on my desk in her room.

I, Camille Bonanno, do hereby leave my co-editorship of the Blue & White to a felicitous and worthy junior.
